

The job ahead for the culturally disadvantaged

FEMA is planning a recuperative event because they notice we're floundering economically, but do you think this doctor can be expected to actually examine the patient?
Not a chance.
They're going to bring something from Columbia University in here — New Yorkers — with a unit they call in New York an "Earth Institute." See the ad on page one. What in the hell can they in New York teach us about earth?
This is apparently a Washington D. C. thing, doubtless infested with Democrats convinced that they know what's best for everyone, like socialism, or Obamaism, to spread the conviction that we can't live without them injecting themselves into our lives, and ourselves becoming dependent addicts on them getting continuity of employment as crutches for us.

We're seeing a couple of struggles here. The first is how we keep our breadwinners from going bonkers with all this idle time on their hands. Our men relied upon the habitual routines of daily work.
The second struggle is how to get and keep a home in a real estate market where every single scrap of residential property stays on the market five minutes shorter than realtors are willing to work to close a deal. Cash isn't enough. We need productive routines and a roof over our heads.
For months now, people have been doing other peoples' jobs any way they can get it done.
Some of them have been schluffing along with nothing but a Moore Haven education, and some work experience in a semi-competitive enterprise that demanded no skills.
These FEMA people have their politically-inspired high hopes. They're going to connect the past with the future. Some of them and some of our people have fallen for the Biden nonsense that the future will convert capitalist businesses into our own private little welfare agency. That a single mother will just go to her boss and say that, excuse the fact that I can't spell, can't pronounce names, can't write, and can't for the life of me, get it clear in my head how this business works and how we make money here. But please overlook all that incompetence that all the local teachers have ignored my whole damned life, and don't fire me because have kids to feed at home, and I'm trying to pay my bills.

We in Hendry and Glades counties need a group of serious adults to look back over how we have left unprepared young people for work in the world, and forget about who gets the blame. This is the time for thinking up the questions we should have asked long ago, not just how to balance a checkbook — How do you make sense of life. How do we keep a young couple totally devoid of any of the necessary qualifications for marriage from being mistakenly married by some preacher man.

How do they face life after a year of home-teaching designed by Tallahassee educators by illiterate parents who think that correct spelling, pronunciation, and grammar are just annoyments?
This is a capitalistic world and will remain such, and our people will keep few jobs, with the values of a culturally disadvantaged region that the laze people of Hendry and Glades have reposed in contentedly for years.
And don't expect anybody from Columbia University to know what to do.

Patched up the crack in the Liberty Bell

The whole idea of a chain as a newspaper management concept is that resources may be reallocated from a paper with strong revenues to another with weaker. But which one of us, as readers, and as citizens of a community, would be satisfied to have our community paper weakened, its staff and supplies and its ability to present a cohesive image of our community activities to us all diminished, so that another community's paper, belonging to the same chain, perhaps one more favored by a faraway corporate manager, would thrive? This is why Hendry and Glades counties need a Sunday News that they can truly call their own.
